Art Unit: 2833

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The features "the first and ... second connectors" in claim 1, lines 12-20 was not disclosed in the specification and therefore they are confused and unclear. Applicant's required to cancel these features in reply to this office action.

3. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1, lines 7-11, it is unclear how the first engaging part which electrically connect to the first shield and the second engaging part which electrically connect to the second shield could provide a locking and electrical engagement therebetween. Applicant is required to clarify this manner in reply to this office action.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yeomans et al.

Insofar as the claims can be understood due to the indefiniteness above, Yeomans is applied as follows: Figs. 1-4 show a first connector 10 having a first insulating housing 16, first contacts 24, a first shielding shell (12, 14); a second connector (50, 60) having a second insulating housing 60, second contacts 64, a second shielding shell 50; a latching arm 18, a first engaging part (139, 152); a second engaging part (102, 98). In absence of any showing of criticality by the applicant to form the first and second contact parts to be arranged perpendicular to the mating direction and disposed spacing relative to each other along the direction perpendicular to the mating direction would have been obvious of modification since such changes solve no stated problem. As to claim 2, spring contacts (90, 92, 94). As to claims 4 and 5, to form the first engaging part of the latching arm with a hole and the second engaging part of the second shell with an anchoring projection would have been obvious of reversal parts.

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

7. (e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371© of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

Art Unit: 2833

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

8. Claims 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yeomans et al.

The disclosure of Yeomans shows each and every elements set forth in these claims. For example: Fig. 1 shows an insulating housing 16, contacts 24, a shielding shell (12, 14), a metal latching arm 18 having a front end (144, 152) fastened to an end of the shielding shell, a rear end 132 and an engaging part 139.

9. Claims 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yeomans et al in view of Hirai.

As to claim 8, to form the engaging part of the latching with a hole for engaging with a projection of a mating shell would have been obvious of modification since such change is old and will known in the art.

As to claim 10, Yeomans does not show the shielding shell is enclosed with a covering enclosure. Hirai, Figs. 1 and 2 show a covering enclosure 9 enclosing a shielding shell (8a, 8b). It would have been obvious to one with skill in the art to modify the connector of Yeomans by providing the shielding shell with a covering enclosure, as taught by Hirai, in order to protect the shielding shell of the connector.

Art Unit: 2833

10. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-10 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

11. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
